

MAKE A DECISION

As you learn more about the occupations on your list, you will find that some of them do not interest you after all. That's progress! Cross them off. When you have your list of occupations narrowed down to a few and aren't sure which you prefer, take some time to think about the advantages and disadvantages of your remaining options. Your final career choice won't be so much right or wrong as it will have positive and negative consequences. What are the pros and cons of each option? This form can be duplicated as often as you want and used to help you think through your options.
